

PRIVATEUM UNVEILED

The world was in a different place when we started to work on Privateum

We were concerned with the problems of economic centralization and predominance of the market monopolies

We wanted to prove that technology is capable of creating the new opportunities for global businesses to operate

We believed that principles of democracy and self-help can create a strong cooperation resilient to external hurdles

We combined our technical expertise with a solid legal partnership to iterate on the solution that would address the outlined problems

And ultimately we built Privateum, the platform that allows businesses and individuals to operate in a new way
